▶ About the cover

Nick Petro, owner of Red Rose Pub, is passionate about showcasing the region's bounty in the most delicious way— a fun farm-to-table experience. This Scottsville Area Guide is all about those connections— from the land to the harvest to the families who work for it, to the hands who prepare it, to the people who live in and love Scottsville. To celebrate, we've gone beyond a typical list of local restaurants— we're highlighting the whole food chain. From farms, to the Scottsville Farmers Market, to retail food, to emerging food trucks, to restaurants, we've included it all (if we've missed you, let me know at greg@allamericanpub.net).

Seeing it all together like this, you can't deny that Scottsville EATS. Nick and Red Rose Pub embody that spirit, and that led to our editorial decision to feature them on the cover of the 2026 Scottsville Area Guide.

SECURING THE RIGHT HOUSE FOR YOUR HOME

430 VALLEY STREET
SCOTTSVILLE, VA 434-286-2022

The seeds of American democracy sown by Thomas Jefferson at Monticello were first cultivated at the edge of the river town now known as Scottsville, Virginia. Young Jefferson's father, Peter, traveled dirt roads south in the mid-1700s to serve as a justice for the newly formed County of Albemarle. Years later, Jefferson himself practiced law in the old Scottsville courthouse. The small town of about 600 thrives today, drawing residents with a true getaway from the stress of busy life. River access, affordable real estate, a talented workforce, and nearby world-class educational resources make Scottsville a rewarding place to live and work. Just as important, this is a town where you can know your neighbors and count on people to help when it matters. Local business owners and residents contribute their time and skills to support arts, history, education, and many other facets of small-town life through a variety of community organizations and churches. If you're one of our residents, you know. If not, come experience it for yourself! Visit our restaurants and entertainment venues, historic sites and museums, parks and hiking areas, inns and other lodging, and local shops to see what makes Scottsville feel like home.

▶ Scottsville government

The Town of Scottsville was incorporated in 1818 and operates under a Mayor and Town Council form of government. The six-member Town Council and the Mayor are elected from at-large districts for a term of four years. Elections are held in November of even numbered years.

Scottsville Town Council

The Town Council meets for public session on the third Monday of every month at 7 p.m. in the Victory Hall, 401 Valley Street. Meetings are streamed on Zoom, and video is available on YouTube. The Town Council also meets for a Work Session on the second Monday of every month at 7 p.m. Much of the work of the Town Council is done through committee. If you are interested in serving on a committee, or if you would like to request that an issue be placed on the agenda of a meeting, please call the Town Office.

Other Town boards include: the Planning Commission, the Architectural Review Board, and the Board of Zoning Appeals.

The Planning Commission develops a Comprehensive Plan every five years to guide development in the Town, updates the Town's Zoning Ordinances, and hears zoning issues.

The Architectural Review Board's role is to protect the character of the Historic District by reviewing plans for new construction and alterations to structures within the town.

The Board of Zoning Appeals hears requests for variances to the zoning ordinance and appeals of determinations by the Zoning Administrator.

Each of these boards is filled by volunteers receiving no compensation for their time and effort.

Serving the Scottsville area

Geographically, and politically, Scottsville primarily is located in Albemarle County. Town residents vote in Albemarle County elections and pay taxes to Albemarle County, with most school-age children attending Albemarle County Public Schools. However, a small portion of the town is in Fluvanna County, making it one of the few municipalities in Virginia with a split jurisdiction.

Scottsville is represented in the Virginia General Assembly in the 55th District in the House of Delegates and the 11th District in the State Senate. It is represented in the 5th U.S. Congressional District.

Because of its unique positioning, Scottsville straddles the line of both Albemarle and Fluvanna counties and is separated from nearby Buckingham County by the James River.

▶ Albemarle County government

Administration

Day-to-day governmental operations in Albemarle County are managed by the County Executive who is appointed by the Albemarle County Board of Supervisors.

The county administration office is located at 401 McIntire Road, Charlottesville and can be reached at 434-296-5822.

County Executive
Jeff Richardson
434-296-5822

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Scottsville is represented by Mike Pruitt on the Albemarle County Board of Supervisors. Scottsville is one of the six magisterial districts in Albemarle County.

The board meets the first and third Wednesday of each month, beginning at 1 p.m.

Planning and zoning

Albemarle County's Community Development Department is responsible for planning, reviewing, and implementing land uses on behalf of the community reflecting the County's interests in historic, natural and cultural resources, the creation and protection of a healthy and safe built environment, the provision of diverse housing, and the effective stewardship of all of the County's assets. The community development department is located at 401 McIntire Road, North Wing, Charlottesville. Walk-in lobby hours are Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. It can be reached by calling 434-296-5832.

PLANNING COMMISSION

Albemarle County Planning Commission
Regularly scheduled meetings of the Planning Commission are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, beginning at 6 p.m. in Lane Auditorium on the Second Floor of the County Office Building at 401 McIntire Road, Charlottesville.

Library

The Scottsville Library formerly inhabited an old two-room schoolhouse, which was struck by lightning and destroyed by fire in 1980. The current building was built on the site of the old one in 1982. The library is part of the Jefferson-Madison Regional Library system. It is located at 330 Bird Street, Scottsville.

The library schedule is as follows:

Scottsville Branch Library

Sunday: Closed
Monday: 11 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Tuesday: 1 - 9 p.m.
Wednesday: 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Trash and recycling

The Rivanna Solid Waste Authority (RSWA) provides recycling, solid waste, and household hazardous waste disposal services to the City of Charlottesville and Albemarle County.

Recycling, solid waste, and household hazardous waste disposal services are located at the: McIntire Recycling Center, Ivy Material Utilization Center (MUC), and the Paper Sort Facility on Meade Avenue.

The closest collection site for Scottsville residents is the Southern Albemarle Convenience Center, located at 6269 Esmont Road, Keene, approximately 6 miles from town. It is open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. but closed Thursday.

► Emergency services

Scottsville Police Department

The Town Charter establishes the office of "Town Sergeant," originally tasked with safeguarding the rights and safety of all residents. Today, these responsibilities are fulfilled by the Scottsville Police Department (SVPD), which is led by an appointed Chief of Police and operates according to the best practices of modern community policing.

Scottsville currently employs a part-time Chief of Police, two full-time officers, a part-time Administrative Sergeant, and several auxiliary officers. The Town maintains mutual aid agreements with all three surrounding counties to ensure effective public safety cooperation. The SVPD is also actively engaged in community outreach and engagement. Details about their work can be found on the SVPD Facebook Page.

Scottsville Volunteer Fire Department

The Scottsville Volunteer Fire Department was established in 1936. It is located in Southern Albemarle County along side the James River and is an all-volunteer department with more than 50 trained members. The department serves approximately 300 square miles and more than 10,000 residents. Its main service area is Southern Albemarle County with first-due areas in Buckingham, Fluvanna and Nelson counties. The department fleet includes two engines, two tankers, two command cars, duty crew car, one brush truck, one utility SUV, one hazardous material containment trailer, one utility trailer and two boats.

In 2011, Scottsville Fire and Scottsville Rescue made an agreement for Scottsville Fire to inherit operations of the Swift Water Rescue Team. While its primary response area is Albemarle County, the department also assist Fluvanna, Buckingham, and Nelson counties. Its primary service is swift-water rescue, but it also responds to other water-related calls, such as: search and rescue, floods, special event stand-by, and boat support for dive teams. The fleet includes two boats and two kayaks.

Anyone interested in joining the water rescue team or fire department is encouraged to stop by or call 434-286-2841 (Monday - Thursday, 6 - 9 p.m.) Applications are also available on-line.

Scottsville Elementary

Scottsville Elementary School

Scottsville Elementary School serves 220 students in preschool through fifth grade with 42 faculty and staff members. It is one of 15 elementary schools in the Albemarle County Public School division.

Now located on 15 acres in the rural town of Scottsville, the school was originally founded in 1908 to accommodate both elementary and secondary students, and was situated on Scottsville Hill above Valley Street. The current structure, built in 1981, received an award for its design by the American Institute of Architects and includes ten classrooms, a media center, cafeteria, and gymnasium.

Scottsville Elementary has been lucky to see recent building improvements. In 2020, a school-wide renovation resulted in the addition of four new classrooms, a new art room, and a full-size school gym.

Students from the southwest of Albemarle County to Esmont and Keene, to Woodridge and the Fluvanna and Buck-

AVAILABLE

Working with the Rivanna Water and Sewer Authority, we continue to produce and deliver water of the highest quality. There is one good story after another:

- For five calendar years, 100% of samples have tested negative for fecal coliform bacteria and 99.9% have tested negative for non-fecal coliform bacteria.
- There are no lead pipes in our distribution systems and no lead service lines from the meters to customer homes, schools, and businesses.
- In 2025 quarterly testing in all systems, there were no detectable PFAS compounds of any kind in the treated water.

Baine's Books & Coffee

Tucked in the heart of Scottsville, Baine's Books & Coffee on Valley Street offers a warm invitation to slow down and stay awhile. Blending the cozy comfort of a neighborhood coffee shop with the quiet magic of a thoughtfully curated bookstore, it's the kind of place where conversations linger, pages turn easily and everyone feels at home. Whether you're stopping in for a perfectly brewed cup, searching for your next great read or simply soaking in the small-town charm, Baine's captures the spirit of community that makes Scottsville so special and welcoming locals and visitors alike to gather, connect and unwind.

Baine's opened its doors in Scottsville in 2012, marking the coffee shop's second location after its original start in Appomattox. Owner Bryan Baine agreed to the company's expansion at the encouragement of Kristin Freshwater and Scout Strauser, former employees at the original location. The duo then took on the new location and made it their own, with specially designed drinks, freshly made pastries and snacks, hand-selected books and special events for the community throughout the year. Since then, the business has continued to grow, adding a third location in Amherst.

Tavern on the James

Tucked along the scenic banks of the James River, Tavern on the James has become a favorite gathering spot for both visitors and locals alike. Whether you're winding down after a day spent floating the river, browsing the variety of shops along Valley Street or simply looking for a relaxed place to meet friends, the tavern offers a welcoming escape with views that capture the spirit of Scottsville.

"I wouldn't want to live anywhere else," Spencer Marshall said of the town. "The people here are marvelous. It's country, but it can be populated. We get to see a lot of people from all over the state. People coming to get on the river. This is a travel destination."

Spencer opened the restaurant with his wife, Kelley, and business partner, Jeff Sprouse, in 2012 after two years of remodeling what used to be known as Country Blessings, a general merchandise store. The trio completely renovated the inside of the building, leaving just the original outside brick and roof standing. Some materials were reused for doors and bars as the restaurant took shape, resulting in a dining area and bar downstairs and private meetings areas upstairs to host weddings receptions, birthday parties and other special events. Sprouse decided to leave the restaurant business the following year, leaving the Marshalls to run the restaurant on their own.

"We try to rise to the occasion," Spencer said. "I'm not trying to be a five-star restaurant. I like taking what people are familiar with and putting a pizzazz on it."

With a menu that truly offers something for everyone, from hearty comfort foods to lighter fare, Tavern on the James makes it easy to please a crowd. Paired with friendly service and a laid-back, riverside vibe, it's the kind of place where stories from the day are shared, laughter carries across the tables and visitors quickly feel like regulars.

Food Trucks

Rounding out Scottsville's amazing dining options are an incomparable fleet of eats on wheels. These strong options deliver a moveable feast to Scottsville.

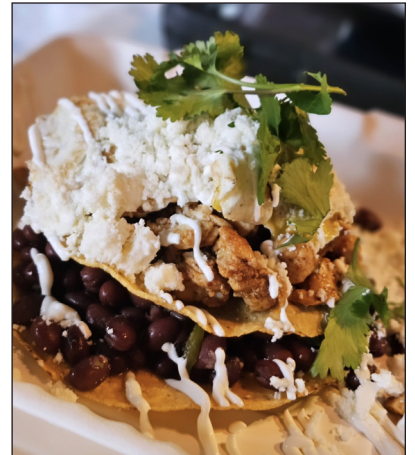

► Luv'n Oven

Luv'n Oven, a longtime local favorite formerly located in the Food Lion shopping center, has hit the road as a food truck now parked at 190 James River Road. Serving lunch from November through April, and both lunch and dinner from April through November, Luv'n Oven continues to dish out the same crowd-pleasing favorites—fresh, juicy burgers, crispy chicken and flavorful fries alongside homemade sides that keep customers coming back for more.

► Sunrise Tostada

Sunrise Tostada is a local favorite often found at James River Brewery, serving up fresh, flavorful breakfast Mexican fusion with a creative twist. From stacked tostadas and hearty potato bowls to nachos, huevo plates, and irresistible specialty desserts, every dish is made to satisfy. With all sauces crafted in-house and a focus on fresh ingredients, Sunrise Tostada brings bold, homemade flavor to every bite.

► T & M Foods

Located at the Scottsville Pavilion in downtown Scottsville's Dorrier Park, T & M Foods is a go-to spot for simple, satisfying bites. Known for their made-to-order breakfast sandwiches, they serve up fresh, hot options that are perfect for a quick start to your day while enjoying the charm of the riverfront.

► Mr. Z's BBQ

Mr. Z's BBQ is a Scottsville-based pop-up serving up bold, flavor-packed barbecue with a unique twist. Voted Favorite Food Truck in the 2025 Daily Progress Readers' Choice Awards, this husband-and-wife team blends Texas-style barbecue with the vibrant tastes of Honduras. From pulled pork and smoked sausage to loaded nachos, tacos, creamy mac and cheese, and baked beans, every dish delivers a delicious mix of tradition and creativity that keeps fans lining up wherever the truck leads them.

► OM Taco

OM Taco is known for delicious vegetarian street tacos, fried to perfection. The stand which has made appearances at the Scottsville Farms Market, is pay by donation, and features vegan and gluten-free options. Their signature popsicle, the Zensicle, is also available.

BY SHAYNA WATSON

Rooted in the rich soil of Scottsville, the Red Rose Pub brings the farm-to-table experience to life in the most authentic way. Here, the journey from pasture to plate isn't a trend, it's a way of life.

"America is waking up to how our food is processed and how we've been conditioned to eat slop," said owner Nick Petro. "We're here to offer a healthier palette for Scottsville."

At the heart of the Red Rose Pub is a commitment to farm-to-table dining. Every dish is thoughtfully prepared using ingredients raised and grown from local farms within a 75-mile radius from the restaurant. With a menu that will change with the seasons, every ingredient will share its own story for diners, from the seasonal vegetables harvested at peak freshness to the pasture-raised eggs, grass-fed beef and farm-raised pork and chicken that form the backbone of each dish. This deep connection to the land ensures that every meal is not only fresh and flavorful, but thoughtfully and sustainably produced.

—Red Rose Pub owner Nick Petro

“We have a very talented chef cooking high quality food,” Petro said of Chef Dale Ford, who has previously served dishes at Trump Winery and Devil’s Backbone Brewing Company. “We’re happy to be of service in this community.”

A member of the food industry for approximately 7 years, Petro recently came back to Scottsville to help on his family’s farm, Chevy Chase Farm. He had slowly been working his way up from a dishwasher and this time on the farm sprouted a new plan for a vertically integrated approach to his own restaurant. When the former owner of 515 Valley Street showed interest in leaving the area, Petro was ready to start making his vision a reality.

“The timing was right,” he said. “I’d been wanting this for some time, so I jumped on it.”

Tucked on Valley Street close by the scenic James River, this new local gem opened its doors to guests at the end of 2025, with an official ribbon-cutting ceremony on March 25, 2026. With an atmosphere that is just as inviting as the menu, the Red Rose Pub offers the perfect setting for gathering with friends or unwinding after a long day. Guests can enjoy a craft beer, sip on a glass of Virginia wine, or dig into a hearty burger made from the farm’s own grass-fed beef.

For many who have already enjoyed a delicious bite to eat here, the Red Rose Pub offers more than just a meal, it offers a story. A story of sustainable farming, of food made with intention and of a community coming together around the table. With its dedication to quality, local ingredients and genuine hospitality, the town’s newest restaurant is quickly becoming a place locals can call their own.

Located in the rich Piedmont region of Virginia, Scottsville and the surrounding areas have a deep-rooted relationship with living off the land. Today, that relationship is visible not only in the sprawling agricultural enterprises that exist throughout Central Virginia, but also in specialty agribusinesses, pick-your-own, CSAs and, locally owned farm-store operations.

Scottsville Farmer's Market

There's nothing quite like a Saturday morning in Scottsville when the Farmer's Market is in full swing.

Running every weekend from April through mid-November, the Scottsville Farmers Market brings together the best of the community, fresh, local goods, friendly faces and a laid-back atmosphere that invites you to linger a little longer.

"We're really excited about the market this year," said new manager Kathie Boyce. "The first market was awesome. Everybody was having a good time. The vibe was energetic."

Opening day last Saturday welcomed an impressive 30 vendors to the Scottsville Pavilion and kicked off what promises to be another vibrant season. While many vendors commit for the full season, the market also features a rotating mix of participants, meaning each visit can bring something new to discover. And with expanded space in the middle area, now thoughtfully divided to accommodate even more vendors, there's plenty of room for the market to continue growing.

"It's like a little family," Boyce said of the market. "We want to create a very warm, welcoming atmosphere for everyone to enjoy."

Even better, the market is still open to new vendors looking to join in the fun. Boyce said those interested in signing up must be selling handcrafted or homemade items to be a part of the market. Visitors will also be happy to hear that dogs are once again welcome, making it a true outing for the whole family. Whether you're shopping for fresh produce, handmade goods or simply soaking in the small-town charm, the Scottsville Farmers Market is the place to be every Saturday.

For more information or to sign up as a vendor, contact Boyce at Farmersmarket@scottsville.org.

Canal Basin Square

249 Main Street, Scottsville
<https://cbs.avenue.org>

Historical park depicting the transportation history of Scottsville from the era of the Native American Monacan canoes to modern transportation systems. Emphasis is placed on the rich history of batteau and packet boat travel that occurred in the heyday of America's canals. The park is located at the original site of the James River and Kanawha Canal Basin at 249 Main Street across from the Scottsville Museum.

Civil War Trails and Confederate War Memorial Monument

Monument and cemetery at Hardware St. (Rt. 795). Erected by the United Daughters of the Confederacy in 1914. Bronze and granite monument at this site, which includes names, units and home states of the 40 soldiers buried there. A Civil War Trails historical marker at Canal Basin Square is on Main St.

I love the view from my office.

people a space to enjoy the wonders of the outdoors. Come visit this hidden gem that is also only a few minutes walk from the historic downtown area.

Trails include the Mink Creek Trail, Batteau Trail, Arrowhead Trail, and the Monacan Trail. Trail maps are available in the town office and town kiosks.

The closest GPS address for the driveway to the nature area and lake is 253 Hardware Street. There is a parking area next to the gate. Current pedestrian access from the town is open via Jefferson Street (the road behind Doug's Maytag).

SCAN Scottsville Center for Arts and Nature Land

The Scottsville Center for Arts and Nature Land is a unique community green space where art and nature meet, featuring scenic trails that wind through meadows and forest alongside outdoor art installations. Designed as an accessible public park, it invites visitors to explore creativity in the landscape while fostering environmental awareness and a deeper connection to Scottsville's natural surroundings.

In 2004, Robert K. "Bobby" Spencer donated the 13 acres, once known as Sunnyside Farm, to SCAN, with the vision of preserving its natural character. Today, the land has been transformed into a public park featuring walking trails, gardens, and environmental learning spaces, designed to connect the community with nature, art, and downtown Scottsville.

Scottsville and the batteau: a historic connection

BY SHAYNA WATSON

Born from a shared respect for history and a lifelong connection to the water, the James River Batteau Company is a unique venture created by two long-time veterans of the James River Batteau Festival. What began as participation in one of Virginia’s most unique living history traditions has grown into a mission: to bring the story of the batteau and the river that carried it to life for a wider audience.

“This started as a lifestyle business and we have been so floored by the response that we’ve been getting,” said Will Smith, co-founder of the James River Batteau Company. “A big part of it is just to further the story and to further the James River and its impact on our area. We’d love if everyone visiting Virginia would leave knowing about the batteau and how important the James River was to this region.”

In 2021, Smith founded the company with his childhood friend and fellow batteaman, Will Cash. The duo has been captaining their own batteau in the annual festival since high school, both coming from Amherst County. Following COVID, the college roommates decided to turn their love of the batteau and previous tourism experience into a new endeavor together.

“We’ve always had this idea of a batteau company,” Smith said. “It seemed like a perfect time when businesses were taking things outdoors.”

Five years later, the company has added a second batteau to its fleet. At the James River Batteau Company, guests are invited to step aboard and experience the river as it was once traveled. More than a scenic excursion, each journey is designed to connect people to the history, ecology, and enduring spirit of the James River, offering an unforgettable way to experience one of Virginia’s most iconic waterways.

“I’ve always had a soft spot of Scottsville,” Smith said of the annual batteau trip across the state. “It has always been the premiere James River town. The batteau is such an icon of the town.”

The batteau once played a vital role in shaping commerce and community along the James River, serving as a workhorse of early transportation through Virginia’s inland waterways. Today, that legacy continues through immersive experiences that blend storytelling, craftsmanship, and time on the river itself. The James River Batteau Company is dedicated to honoring that heritage while sharing it in a way that feels immediate, engaging, and accessible.

Operating from April through October, the company offers two options for its two-hour cruises, a standard cruise and a sunset cruise. Each cruise includes a full recounting of the history of the batteau by Smith or Cash as they travel upstream, as well as a customized charcuterie board for riders. The company’s two batteau seat up to 6 people each and guests can book private trips or become part of another. So far, the duo has taken over 2,500 people out on the river.

“We fit in with a lot of what the tourists coming to the region are looking for- a way to connect with the great outdoors and connect with history,” Smith said. “We try to facilitate community in the experiences themselves. It’s really special.”

The company recently joined the Chesapeake Gateways Network created by the National Parks Service. Smith said they are looking to continue expanding their fleet as well as their offerings for guests. They are currently working with a local landowner to offer a farm-to-batteau style dinner that will take place along the riverbank, like the settlers traveling on the batteau used to gather.

“Moving to a small town and receiving a warm welcome from the people here has been really meaningful- to start a business, to start a family, to feel like we’re contributing to the town of Scottsville and turning it to the town we want it to be,” Smith said.

For 25 years, I have had the pleasure of working in this beautiful area. I truly love what I do, and I deeply appreciate the relationships I have built with many of you over the years. To keep pace in this dynamic market, I know the importance of research and using innovative marketing to showcase and sell your property. Let me design a custom plan for you whether you are selling or buying.

I appreciate all my loyal repeat clients: you are the foundation of my success. Thank you for your continued trust and for the referrals you send my way. I am sincerely grateful for your support.

Wishing you all the best,
Debi

HEATING & AIR CONDITIONING

GREAT SERVICE. GREAT RATES.
GREAT REVIEWS.

“ Tyler is professional, reliable, and always on time. If you need HVAC work done, he's definitely the person to call.

– Melody

“ Knowledgeable and up to date with newer systems. Was not in a rush to get to the next job. Made sure everything was working properly. Honest and ethical. Highly Recommend!

– Wendy
